'Hope for better life replaces apathy'

By Christine O. Avellana

MARKING his first year in office, President Aquino yesterday said that his "greatest achievement" so far was the transformation in people's attitude from apathy to that of caring and active citizens.

"Before, there was resignation, apathy and apathy," the President told reporters.

"I've seen a change in the people's attitude and confidence, as if they did not expect anything from this government. They were blind in apathy, but now they were being motivated," he said.

"Now, more people are participating in the life of the nation," he said.

He said growing demands for change from the people were a good thing.

Acting ARMM chief must have a plan-P-Noy

By Herman Bautista

THE INCOMING officer to charge of the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) must have a clear-headed plan for implementing reforms in the region.

President Aquino said something after signing into law Republic Act No. 10353 which reorganizes the ARMM structure from August to the second Monday of May 2012 simultaneously with the local national and local elections.

The President had asked Congress for the law, saying it is one of his top priorities. "Of course, the ARMM must be able to take the same to the qualification, then of the ARMM officer to change, one of several, that he will put into place."

On the term

The OIC will take over when the terms of the incumbent director general, vice governor and council members expire. They will be until shortly after the May 2012 polls when the terms of the local elected officials will end.

"The successor will maintain continuity in the region," said Aquino. "If you think about it, this means you wouldn't think of putting in a new governor, but your own governor. The same would be on the delivery of basic services due to the people," he said.

The President said Aquino the OIC from what remained by a governing committee to coordinate with the Senate President and the Speaker of the House.

The OIC shall review the ARMM Organic Act and make recommendations on its improvement within six months of its assumption to office.

Cleaning of voters' list

He has opened during the signing law that was extended by members of Congress, the President said the Department of Interior and local government will implement a cleaning of voters' list in the region.

He said there would be a cleaning of the ARMM voter list through another round of voter registration and modernization of the election process. Mr. Aquino said the government would also encourage civil society groups to help with voter education and the protection of votes.

He said the OIC would make sure the law is the ARMM in full.

There would be no more such advances for the procurement of equipment and supplies, and for services, he said. "The President outlined the need to address the corruption, the electoral fraud and the poverty that had long afflicted the ARMM."

"There are those who are asking, why do the elections have to be postponed? There are those who complain that the ARMM is a place with democracy that has been taken from the hands of the region's leaders," Mr. Aquino said.

"The question I will return to them is, with the system that we have in the region, is the ARMM really experiencing democracy?"

Heard by 2007

The President said there is no democracy when voters are told elections are for when elections are held to elect on bullet boxes to protect the votes from private armies, and when voters have to wait for the ballot boxes while waiting in line for their votes.

"As far as voters to some of the things that happened in 2007, when the results of the election in Mindanao were released, the outcome was 12.8, 40 of the 100 members of the ARMM Council," Mr. Aquino said.

"Now, did that happen? In my mind I don't, now the law that the ARMM from this law in the ARMM?"

The President said the ARMM has also one of the poorest regions in the country with a poverty incidence of 36.1 percent in 2009. He said Maguindanao had the most severe poverty incidence with 44.6 percent.

"It's putting that the ARMM region in this situation despite the fact that we're allocated annually to the region," he said.

Professional Age-Erasing Secrets

Being in the limelight entails celebrities to take extra measures in caring for their skin. But is the quest to maintain youthful looking skin, there are those who prefer to take the non-invasive, non-surgical approach. Celebrities Agot Isidro, Cherie Gil and Patty Balboa share how they remain effortlessly ageless and naturally beautiful at any age. Their age-erasing secret? Facial Care Centre.

Agot's Advantage ReFirme

If you've reached the age where the visible signs of aging like wrinkles and sagging are evident, ReFirme - the latest non-invasive treatment that targets loose, sagging skin and wrinkles on the face and neck - is the perfect choice. "Beauty shouldn't hurt, right? That's why I love ReFirme! The results are instant. The lines on my face vanished, and the contours of my eyes are lifted," Agot attests.

Cherie's Choice Renew

Photoageing is one of the leading causes of premature aging. The traditional approach to treat it is by way of fractional laser treatments. But for women seeking a quicker and pain-free way to lighten and rejuvenate the face, there is Renew - a revolutionary fractional resurfacing treatment that effectively targets photoaged and aging skin 100% faster than any treatment of its kind. "Renew's probably the best treatment I've tried in removing my dark spots, acne scars and wrinkles. It only takes 20 minutes to make my skin look fantastic," exclaims Cherie.

Patty's Preference IPL

Blemishes, be it sun spots, freckles or acne marks, can keep you from having the clear and spotless complexion you've always wanted. Now see you banish those blemishes from your face! Facial Care Centre's IPL, its skin resurfacing treatment that uses light energy to diminish blemishes and imperfections from skin damage. "I have blemishes on my skin because of too much sun exposure. The IPL is one of the treatments I regularly request and I'm very happy with the results," Patty shares.

in the Undersecretary office, who asked not to be identified because the official has no authority to speak to the media about the matter.

Reached for comment, Lin said briefly: "Don't sensationalize domestic issues on something I have no personal knowledge of."

Lin would appear surprised and concerned by the report. He said she was not aware that she was one of the three officials the President was planning to reshuffle, although they do have problems regarding her office.

Lin said she could not be reached for comment.

Making his way past to office yesterday, Mr. Aquino said he was generally satisfied with his Cabinet—except for a Cabinet member whom he plans to ask regarding his resignation.

"I will have to talk to you later and if we can't come up with an understanding, I think I might give him another assignment," Mr. Aquino said.

Hanging by a thread

The President expects to appoint after signing into law a measure postponing the election in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) in May 2013, postponing them with the southern gully. The ARMM elections were originally set for next month.

The President did not name the official whose job seemed to be hanging by a thread, only mentioning that the official had a Cabinet seat post his.

To make the statement, he said he was not sure if he could rely on when it comes to accurate weather forecasting.

At the same time, the Department of Public Works and Highways has work, when he mentioned his problems with the "bad news" trio, Mr. Aquino pointed to what he called the good performance of Budget Secretary Francisco Abad, Public Works Secretary Rogelio Ingoson and Agriculture Secretary Maria Manzano.

President's spokesperson Erika Lacierda said he did not know who was the Cabinet official in peril of being reassigned elsewhere.

Pagcor sets aside P1B for classrooms

THE PHILIPPINE Amusement and Gaming Corporation (Pagcor) has allocated P1 billion to fund the construction of 1,000 classrooms in public elementary and secondary schools nationwide, according to its chairman and CEO Christian Nolasco Jr.

Nolasco said that Pagcor embarked on the project, called "Maternal to Maternal in the Classroom," in partnership with the Department of Education (DepEd).

He disclosed that funding for the project was made possible by the robust performance of the agency during the first five months of 2011. Pagcor generated P5.65 billion in gross income for the month of May alone, a record high in its 25-year history, he added.

From January to May this year alone, the agency was able to reduce its operating expenses by 10.7 percent, Nolasco said.

He added that the construction of the 1,000 classrooms was Pagcor's biggest project this year.

All of the construction have been made possible by law. One major project of Pagcor that remains required is to raise money for the P400-million funding for the construction of the Manila City Hall of Justice in 2010 and 2011, he said.

He said the project was Pagcor's contribution to the efforts of President Aquino to improve the quality of education in the country.

"Through this undertaking, we hope to help our government in addressing the perennial problem of classroom shortage in the Philippines. We hope to have all 1,000 classrooms completed and operational next school year in communities where they are most needed," he said.

The "Maternal to Maternal in the Classroom" project also plans to help the help of non-government organizations (NGOs), which shall construct classrooms that adhere to DepEd's standards and specifications using the Pagcor funds.

"We believe these NGOs can help us build the construction of our 1,000 classrooms. They are present in various communities nationwide and they already have the experience in implementing large-scale projects," Nolasco said.

Aquino OKs P1.8-T budget

PROCEEDING Aquino has approved his Wednesday the ad interim budget for 2012, according to Budget Secretary Florencio Abad.

Abad disclosed that the 2012 budget for the national government—basic education, public health and the Department of Education (DepEd)—would get the lion's share of the proposed budget, equivalent to an 11 percent or P2.5-billion increase.

The proposed increase for social services is an increase of one percent over its current budget of P25.8 billion, according to Abad.

Other features of the proposed budget: The budget for transportation is increased by only around two percent, from P104.7 billion in 2011 to P106.9 billion in 2012. The 2012 budget for health and social services had been an aide for the Armed Forces' requirements in protecting the government's command chain in the West Philippine Sea.

The Department of Education will have the largest slice of the budget, at P22.7 billion, representing a 14.4 percent increase from its P20 billion 2011 allocation.

The Department of Social Welfare and Development will get the highest increase, with its budget increased by 16 percent to P25.6 billion from the current year's P24.5 billion. Agriculture Secretary

Problems crying for solutions

WILLI STEIN, issues are lagging in solutions. These have led to the current problems. And public needs to wait.

1. After the devastating flood caused by typhoon "Ondoy" on Aug. 26, 2009, major government was quick to release funds to assist a similar incidence of typhoon in impact. And to say your year and some money after typhoon, some have been done in this disaster. President Aquino should take the initiative in taking together the national government agencies and release private entities to create the state of typhoon and release immediate relief and some money to help the people in need. This is a very important role for the president to play. He should take the initiative in taking together the state of typhoon and release immediate relief and some money to help the people in need. Property insurance a private transaction

I just renewed my property insurance and was surprised to find out that the premium had doubled since last time I paid. It appears that the Insurance Commission (IC) under Circular No. 21-2010 has "prescribed" a minimum rate for the state of typhoon and release immediate relief and some money to help the people in need. This is a very important role for the president to play.

Smoke at your own risk; ban on smoking in public starts today

By Tina G. Santos

With 12 to 15 minutes of time, smokers will start approaching smokers pulling on a cigarette in public places starting today, the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) will also designate smoking areas with designated signs in its inner 15th districts.

The authority's authority—25 public places in all and 150 meters away from smoking locations.

However, in an earlier interview, MMDA chair Francis Tolentino reminded the public to focus only on smoking bans in the city's public places.

The MMDA's full enforcement of the no-smoking policy is consistent with the local government unit's enforcement of its anti-smoking ordinance.

The agency's enforcement will include the deployment of certain points on 15th, including smoking and smoking bans, public transport terminals and stations of the Light Rail Transit and Metro Rail Transit.

Mayor: Condom law dead

By Tina G. Santos

A CONTROVERSIAL ordinance which was approved by Barangay Ayala Alabang in Muntinlupa City regarding the sale and use of contraceptives will no longer be implemented, according to Mayor Aldrin San Pedro.

"The ordinance is dead," San Pedro said in a press conference yesterday. "It will no longer be implemented. Well, to the first place, they really cannot implement it because it was not approved by the city council."

He added that as a council member, he was not in favor of the ordinance. He said that he was not in favor of the ordinance because it was not approved by the city council.

ON LINE DURING DISASTERS

Preparedness and response key to Smart's Kabalikat sa Kaligtasan.

Through its corporate social responsibility and community service program Kabalikat, Smart uses its technologies, infrastructure and resources to help government and private partners make life better for Filipinos in the areas of education, environment, disaster preparedness, livelihood and health.

When Typhoon Ondoy struck in September 2009, Smart was just about the only telco that still managed to keep the lines open in the hard-hit areas of Marikina, Ampang and Pasig.

Engineers and employee-volunteers worked round the clock to restore and provide communication services to first responding agencies, civil do rescue and relief agencies and the general public could reach out to families and friends.

Their presence was felt only when cell phones came to life, engineers alerted to repair communication facilities downed by the floods.

Their counterparts at the Liling Tayang Centers were more visible, working the phone lines to provide free calls to the affected, providing free internet connectivity to victims and relief groups alike, and even providing cell phone recharging stations in areas where power was disrupted via generator sets.

Together with sister companies under the PLDT Group, Smart also deployed employee-volunteers and resources to relief distribution efforts.

Smart also sets measures to ensure that areas are prepared long before a disaster threatens to strike.

Disaster response teams have been formed and trained under the guidance of the Ligapoko Network for Disaster Responses to enable the setting up of a structure within the organization to make it easier to mobilize employees, coordinate with responding agencies and provide the assistance needed during disasters.

Smart, an active communications partner of the Philippine Red Cross, also works with the humanitarian agency in regularly holding blood donation drives nationwide to maintain a blood bank that serves those in need not only during disasters but also in the case of outbreaks and other emergencies. Through Project Rain Gauge, Smart helps PAGASA gather rainfall data in areas beyond the smaller bureau's stations situated nationwide. Involved are students of 68 public schools around the country who collect and report rainfall data via SMS and the Internet. Though initially a science education exercise, Project Rain Gauge is envisioned to enhance PAGASA's capacity to localize weather reporting and forecasting and is help build data that will form the basis for the development of early warning systems in flood-prone areas.

Smart is also supporting the Philippine Disaster Recovery Foundation's initiative to co-locate PAGASA's weather instruments in over 60 of its cell sites, starting with the one installed in its San Rafael cell site in Marikina, Rizal. The co-location is part of an agreement among the PDRF, PAGASA and the country's first telco to help upgrade the country's flood forecasting system.

Meanwhile, Smart involves partner schools under its Smart Schools Long-Term Learning Initiative Program (SLEIP) to help develop low-cost seismic monitoring devices in collaboration with the Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology (PHIVOLCS).

Smart's many initiatives under Kabalikat sa Kaligtasan spell the company's commitment to minimize the impact of disasters through preparedness and to respond in a speedy, effective manner. Because with disasters, the need for communications becomes vital.

Cambodia maids barred from 'abusive' Kuwait

FROM PHNOM PENH—Cambodian environmental agencies have decided not to send maids to Kuwait after complaints by human rights groups of abuse by employers, a government official said on Thursday.

Imported Cambodia is one of Asia's biggest exporters of maids abroad, a valuable source of foreign-currency earnings.

The move came after Indonesia, which has more than 400,000 maids in the Gulf states, banned its citizens from working in Kuwait, after an Indonesian maid was accused of murdering her husband.

As British, president of the British Council in London, said on Thursday, Cambodia had not yet been made to Kuwait and the agencies had decided against sending because of the country's record of abuse.

"We have received a report from our embassy in Kuwait about abuse of maids and so, as the report from Human Rights Watch," he said.

"We would only send them there if there is no abuse," he said.

According to Human Rights Watch, maids have been paid good wages and sent to Kuwait and are doing much on another matter. He said, referring to Kuwait.

Human Rights Watch says domestic workers in Kuwait who try to escape employer's control are arrested and sent to detention centers. It also says that maids are being sent to Kuwait without their employer's permission.

DNA evidence in Knox appeals trial contested

ROME—Attorneys here won a crucial legal showdown as an Italian court ruled that DNA evidence used to convict a woman of murdering her husband was not reliable.

The court's decision was a major blow to the prosecution, which had argued that the DNA evidence was reliable. The court ruled that the DNA evidence was not reliable because it was not properly tested.

France gives Libya rebels arms; UK balks

THROW—France has acknowledged dropping arms to rebels in Libya, while Nato ally Britain is declining to follow suit over concerns about UN Security Council authorization.

The French ambassador to the United Nations General Assembly said Wednesday that his country's delivery of arms to the rebels was not in breach of a January Council resolution that established an arms embargo on Libya.

"We decided to provide our defense weapons to the rebel populations because we considered these populations were under threat," he said before noon.

Col. Muammar Gaddafi, commander

...for the French general staff, told AFP the shipments were essentially light arms such as assault rifles to help civilians protect themselves from extremist attacks.

He said France had become aware in early June that rebel-held border villages in the Malian northwestern region had come under pressure from Radically Islamists after joining the revolt against the government's then de facto ruler.

*We began by dropping from our car into the forest, under and around my place," he said. "During the operation, the situation for the civilians on the ground worsened. We dropped arms and means of self-defense, mainly ammunition." Bakhtal described the weapons "light infantry weapons of the 1980 type" and said the drops were carried out over several days "so the civilians would not be intimidated." French's Le Figaro daily, citing a senior intelligence source and well-placed officials, said the air drops of weapons were deemed to be "a failure."

No deportation for Venezuelan man wed to an American man

BOI, Peza investments hit P260B in May

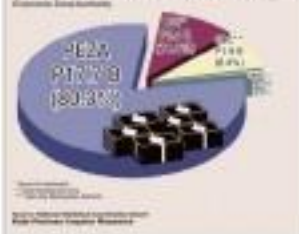

INQUIRER MONITOR

Figures that number of new investors in BOI

Majority of investments from PEZA

(1st quarter 2011, in billions of pesos)

Of the P260 billion in foreign direct investments registered in the first quarter of 2011, P171.7 billion (66.2 percent) came from the Philippine Economic Zone Authority.

Pledges made for planned projects up 189% in 1st 5 months

By Miguel L. Ro

THE VALUE of investments registered with the Board of Investments and the Philippine Economic Zone Authority jumped 189 percent to P259.34 billion in the first five months, from P90 billion in the same period last year.

According to data from the Department of Trade and Industry, investor intent pledges at the BOI for P251.35 billion in the January-May period—a 238 percent surge from the previous year's P84.65 billion.

Investment commitments at the Peza, on the other hand, rose 48 percent to P168.39 billion in May, to P44.13 billion reported in the same period last year.

Compared to the previous year, commitments in the electricity, gas, water and oil and mining sectors rose by P70.17 billion, while those in the real estate services rose by P51.77 billion.

The administrative support and services sector also contributed another P1.51 billion, the accommodation and food service activities in chemistry an additional P1.21 billion, the mining and quarrying sector another P1.3 billion, and the water supply, sewerage, waste management and remediation services an additional P1.05 billion in the first five months.

Half of the registered investments came from domestic investors, with total investments reaching P259.34 billion, or 66 percent of the pledges recorded from January-May.

The balance of P90.37 billion came from various foreign investors, led by the Netherlands, with P7.44 billion in total registered investments in the first five months.

American investors contributed another P7.13 billion in investment pledges, while Japanese firms added P6.41 billion to the list.

The Board of Investments and the Philippine Economic Zone Authority also had P1.75 billion in investment commitments from South Korean investors, P1.3 billion from Singaporean firms, and P1.12 billion from British groups.

H1 bond transactions up 74% to P316.77B

By Michelle B. Bono

THE COUNTRY'S bond market grew significantly in the first half as investors flocked with cash inflows from in-state more funds to support their expansion and other expenditure in quarters.

Bond market data provided by First Metro Investments Corp. showed that private companies and government entities raised P14.77 billion from sale of bonds in the domestic market in the first six months of 2011.

The amount represented a 74 percent increase from only P100.6 billion registered in the same period a year ago.

Of the amount raised in the first half of this year, P178.97 billion, or 56 percent, was generated by government entities that had engaged in bond sales, such as the Bureau of the Treasury and the Power Sector Assets and Liabilities Management Corp. (PSALM).

PMSC said the healthy pace of growth of the country's bond market would continue throughout the year as the rising income of investors would enable them to purchase more bonds.

Roberto Jacobito, Deputy President of PMSC, said demand for funds by the corporate sector would likely increase in the second half of the year.

Most firms are expected to grab investment opportunities, including public infrastructure projects being offered to the private sector, he added.

"Against the positive backdrop, we see more capital market funds being launched," Jacobito said.

According to the PMSC executive, government entities are expected to take advantage of the market's growing liquidity by issuing more bonds.

Foreign debt hit $60.9B in Q1

By Michelle V. Ranao

THE COUNTRY'S mounting foreign debt amounted to $60.9 billion as at mid-March, up by 5.8 percent from $57 billion recorded in the same period last year, according to the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas.

Despite the increase, the share of the country's foreign debt to economic output went down to 70.5 percent from 72.5 percent over the same period.

This is because economic growth, measured in terms of gross domestic product (GDP), outpaced the increase in foreign debt, the BSP said.

"External debt indicators [such as the debt-to-GDP ratio] remained at comfortable levels during the first quarter," BSP Governor Amador Amador Jr. said in a statement.

The central bank added that the country's ability to service its liabilities in foreign currency has improved significantly and this had been assisted by credit rating agencies.

In June, Moody's Investors Service raised the country's credit rating from three to two notches below investment grade, while Fitch Ratings raised its rating for the Philippines from two notches to one notch below investment grade.

Efficient LGUs to get perks

By Ronald W. Domingo

LOCAL GOVERNMENT units that are adopting more efficient and simpler systems for expediting business can expect to increase their responsive measures by 12 percent to 15 percent, according to the National Competitiveness Council.

Quilino Lac, NCC co-chair for the private sector, pointed out that 126 LGUs have streamlined their business permits and licensing systems (BPLS) through a program that the Department of Trade and Industry and Local Government had launched.

Lac said these LGUs have reported significant improvement in their rate of response, citing as examples General Santos City with a gain of 15 percent and San Fernando City in Pangasinan with 12.6 percent.

"LGUs should realize that it is important to streamline their BPLS," he said. "That way, they attract more investments aside from existing ones in town."

NCC data show that last February City earned P137.6 million in the first quarter, rising from P112.3 million in the same period last year.

The BPLS streamlining program is aimed at enabling LGUs to adopt a single application, form—the same one used going through permits from various government agencies—to reduce the number of steps of the process and thereby shorten the processing time, and cutting the number of agencies needed to secure permits.

Last February City was able to reduce its BPLS process in two steps, involving only one signature. Using a unified form, response time was only 25 minutes.

Nestlé to continue expansion in PH

By Abigail L. Ito

GENEVA, June 20 (AP) — Nestlé Philippines Inc. will be re-investing in the country in the coming years, in addition to new products to meet local tastes, particularly consumers on the extreme top and bottom of the economic pyramid.

In an interview with the business press, Nestlé Philippines chairman and chief executive John Shultz said that the company, while already serving a wide range of Filipino consumers, will find markets that were largely untapped.

"We're looking for growth in many areas. Other than milk, opportunities are being explored. We're aware of the constraints of the economy in the middle, or the C and D classes, but there's a population on the top and bottom of the pyramid that also have to be served," he said.

He said that since 1991 Nestlé Philippines had committed to the Philippines, particularly in the country's rural areas.

PLDT purchase of Digital on hold

Closing date moved to July as legal concerns emerge

By Paolo C. Montalbo

INDUSTRIAL leader Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) has postponed the closing date for its takeover of Digital Telecommunications Inc. (DTI) to July, due to legal complications preventing the transaction's completion.

In a statement on Thursday, PLDT said that several legal issues still stand in the way of its acquisition of DTI, which would result in a players with a market share of 70 percent.

As a result, the deadline for closing has been moved to July 30, from the original deadline of mid-June.

In a separate statement, telecommunications law firm Skidmore, Owens, Merrill & Looney said that it could not advise the group from the country's inactive telecommunications industry.

"The parties remain committed to the deal," the firm said.

The actual sale until a recent Supreme Court decision that ordered a probe into the ownership structure of PLDT. The company has been accused of violating a 40-percent foreign ownership restriction for public utility companies in the Constitution.

The regulatory body's ruling states, as held by the Supreme Court in the PLDT case, that the company is not a public utility. However, the company has also been ordered to comply with the 40-percent foreign ownership restriction for public utility companies in the Constitution.

The PTA's decision has been followed by the following results of investigations by the PTA:

PLDT's assets are in the public utility sector while the company is not a public utility. However, the company has also been ordered to comply with the 40-percent foreign ownership restriction for public utility companies in the Constitution.

New Southwoods board elections urged

By David L. Lauer

THE CHIEF of Southwoods Golf and Country Club has urged to call for a fresh round of elections for the organization's board of directors, after a group of shareholders expressed the number of the group's last annual meeting held recently.

More importantly, however, said Robert John Holmquist, he would not stand for the election of the current board of directors, which he said would not be able to lead the club's new board.

"I make sure that there is no doubt as to my intention. I am not running for election at the new election which I promised will be called soon by the board," he said in a letter distributed recently to the club's members.

Another election will be called after 90 days from the last annual meeting, he added. "We intend to try to get a new board in place as soon as possible, and we intend to make sure that the new board is able to lead the club's new board."

Vital gov't investment plan finally reaches Palace

Gaming firm buys another Internet chain

By Paolo E. Manalillo

THE CONCEPT's only local gaming videogame publisher SP E-Games Ventures Inc. has acquired another Internet café company in line with its strategy to reach out to more registered users across the country.

In a disclosure, the company on Friday said it had agreed a deal to acquire 75 percent of L.L. Link Inc., which owns 31 Internet cafés/branches in the Philippines.

"The parties have signed an agreement, and subject completion of the sale and purchase... within the next 60 days," the company said. "The parties plan to continue to pay the majority stock and the industry purchase price in anticipation of the closing of the acquisition."

SP E-Games decided to give any more details about the deal.

Earlier this year, SP E-Games, a subsidiary of Internet café firm IPV-Group, combined a stock repurchase, which gave the company P134.2 million in fresh capital to be used for "strategic" acquisitions.

In that investment in the Internet café sector was the acquisition of Digital Park Inc., operator of the Naga City chain of Internet cafés, from Philipines Lingo International Co.

With 75 company-owned and 36 franchise branches, Naga City is the largest in terms of sales volume in the country.

The Naga City acquisition also gave SP E-Games an advantage over its chief rival Link-Up Games, also owned by IPV-Group.

SP E-Games said that the Naga City chain also would give the company an addition of 7500 online to ready users.

DOE exhausting all means to bring down rates

By Amy R. Burns

THE DEPARTMENT OF Energy is exhausting all means to bring down the P100 billion worth of electricity charges that the Transa-Serve Assets and Facilities Management Corp. (TSAM) needs to pass on to power consumers.

"We'll continue to look for ways to bring the additional charges down. That's what TSAM is doing to bring in the next 15 years in being done. But we've been successful. The previous bill was very high (at over P100 billion)," Energy Secretary Jose Manzano II. Alcantara previously said, adding that the agency only wanted to help ease the burden of high electricity prices on consumers.

"We will continue to look for ways to bring the additional charges down. That's what TSAM is doing to bring in the next 15 years in being done. But we've been successful. The previous bill was very high (at over P100 billion)," Energy Secretary Jose Manzano II. Alcantara previously said, adding that the agency only wanted to help ease the burden of high electricity prices on consumers.

In a briefing, Alcantara said he was pushing TSAM to get the best possible price for the remaining government-owned power assets and contract expenses.

Any additional proceeds from the private sector will help bring down the so-called retail-side debt, estimated at P2.74 billion, or P100 billion, by the end of 2010, he said.

Alcantara also said that the TSAM should continue to conduct refinancing activities to attract the private, and bring down the collection of receivables to avoid debt interest costs.

According to LSA, the PRC has targeted 400 LCU to be submitted in the project, including the 120 LCU who have completed all the necessary processes in submitting their BPPs.

The remaining 280 LCU were on the priority list but could not submit their BPPs yet, he said.

He said that there are 62 more LCU that are currently submitting their BPPs.

Priority LCU are those with the most number of business establishments; those with high insurance premium in private sector; those with agriculture, mining, and tourism; and those with high revenue potential.

"To measure the effectiveness of the program and the efficiency of the BPP of LCU, the PRC will conduct a client satisfaction survey in the first year," said Manzano.

Report and four years for those outside the PCC.

For the 2011 IPP, however, the Board of Investments proposed that the coverage be reduced to housing units valued at P1.5 million and below. The two standards opposed by groups such as the Infrastructure and Housing Development Association Inc., which wanted the P1.5 million limit retained.

The Housing and Urban Development Coordinating Council said that the housing development on the P1.5 million limit retained.

Earlier, the Department of Finance had called for the elimination of the mass housing sector from the IPP. A compromise was eventually reached.

to the end of the year.

In an earlier interview, Jose Manzano and LSA said that the government agency was prioritizing mass housing as a priority sector.

"The only thing that will be brought forward is the value. We don't know yet what the decision will be," Manzano said.

At work on the 2011 IPP guidelines, Manzano said that the BIC would try to ensure that the housing department to accept the proposed compromise of selling of P1.5 million.

He had earlier said that the House, of Economic and Development Secretary had actually accepted the P1.5-million mass housing rule, except that the BIC believed was just the appropriate amount for such projects to qualify for tax incentives under the IPP.

"That's actually PTC 2 million is the price that can be considered mass, for housing. It's what can be considered by 60-65 percent of the working population to be affordable housing. It's what we believe will benefit the mass in middle market," Manzano said.

He said the BIC would try to ensure that the BIC to accept this compromise.

"We'll send our position to them, we'll put it in writing. If they don't agree, then we'll give it to the Investment Management staff to handle," Manzano said.

HERMÈS SILK scarves do not come cheap. But the fashion-faddistas know they're worth every hard-earned currency. As part of Hermès' global campaign celebrating the brand's long tradition of craftsmanship, Marc Langlois, the brand's GM in the Philippines, recently showed lifestyle journalists the many ways the Hermès scarves could become everyday fashion accessories.

During l'été, the evening's host, and Walter de la Haza made use of Hermès scarves in different sizes and prints to make, for almost anything, from necklaces to belts, shrugs, halters, handbags and makeshift dresses.

Starting with the basic fold dubbed in French as the jeté de l'été, models Walter de la Haza also revealed and modeled how head and neck scarves transformed with the new "basic" scarf.

After that, scarves, Hermès also designed small rings and short leather straps with 11 steps on both sides. The latter is ideal for fastening scarves into belts.

All Dressed Up with Topshop

Eleven new dresses give you every excuse to get the party started!

Why dress down when you can dress up? That's the message you need to repeat when you get a load of Topshop's latest release of party frocks. The eleven dresses of the Dress Up collection are as ripe as ready-made wine; you might have to wait an evening or two before you can drink them.

The warning label should read, "Not for wall flowers!" This one is for those who aren't afraid to be noticed and should be worn with confidence and confidence. Think double-breasted.

and should be worn with confidence and confidence. Think double-breasted dresses, a plunging neck covered in lace, or a seemingly shiny pink dress whose surface gives way to a lace back. Really sexy!

And for those other sorts of affairs, where you'd like to be seen, wear this one. It's a barely visible yellow dress with a subtle, elegant pattern and lots of delicate details on the skirt. A total knockout that really is.

The dresses have already gained attention, with a fairly number of comments, posts, and shares on the collection. In fact, the powers that be at Topshop Philippines must have noticed that the Topshop dress was the most popular item on the site and the most liked item.

She says, "I love the twin-bow dress! It's simple, subtle, and, with just a touch of color in the same shade," following up the pink. "I wish I had a dress like that but the large dresses are such a challenge." "What the other dresses are gorgeous, that is the one dress, from the front that I can see myself wearing to a wedding and a cocktail party." She goes on to say, "What I love most about this is the pattern."

After receiving an email from the Topshop group, she dropped by the boutique in Power Plant Mall last July 24, 2011. In fact, she saw the dress in person. On the dress she said, "It really fits well and the fabric is really nice," adding that it isn't always easy to find dresses that fit her petite proportions. What if you were, dear manager of Topshop/Debenhams Power Plant Mall, make the dresses even more fun, making sure it's in the other styles with the dress available at the store.

Prices from the Dress Up collection are now on display exclusively at Topshop Power Plant Mall. Prices range from P1,000 up to P1,500.

THIRTY YEARS ago, the same group that brought Aldo and Bata Accessories decided to introduce a new brand of footwear and accessories in tune to a much younger target market.

The single store in Montreal branched out to over 200 outlets in Canada, the United States (with 500 exclusive locations at JC Penney stores at the end of this year), Europe and the Middle East.

In March, Call It Spring finally opened its first location in the Philippines at Robinson sons Plaza Mall; another store opened in Greenbelt 3 in April.

Call It Spring boasts a collection of shoes and accessories from the fashion metropolises of London, Milan, LA and New York.

The Spring/Summer 2011 collection presents three big trends. The Garden Lane collection uses natural materials such as raffia, wood, linen, rope, basket weaves, crochets and macramé. The collection includes slaps, wedges, ballerina pumps and cap-toes in natural tones such as beige, tan and black.

Another big trend incorporates the prints and textures of beach, fields and forests in the flats, sandals and wedges of the Sea Wind collection. Hints of colors, such as beige and turquoise, are mixed into cross-body bags, handbags, straw hats and women's harem pants.

Finally, there's the feminine and romantic Nouvelle Française line, with flowers and lace-trim pumps and ballerina flats in colors of black, nude, red and black, with lace, bows, satin and glitter.

Call It Spring is at 2-1 Star Avenue, Greenbelt 3, Ayala Center. Visit www.callitspring.com and www.facebook.com/CallItSpringPhilippines.

JEROME Loria, winner of the 41th Japan International Fashion Competition, gave his license on his creative process to students of Black and Italian Institute of the Philippines, at the Search Interactive Institute at Greenbelt 3.

His works are on exhibit at the 4th gallery, showcasing the evolution of his design, inspired by the latest French Fall/Winter Collection, particularly the French Fall/Winter White Black.

The exhibit features fashion illustrations of several white fabrics of lightweight materials exposed to wind elements in order to stimulate the character of lightness and space. These elements, Loria said, are vital to the process of expanding the concept of "white space" (black fabric) where space is the missing piece.

BABY BOOMERS are rewriting the rules on middle management. They're bowing a new phase of work that holds greater significance, albeit a vocation that's way beyond themselves.

That data looks the same with Wayne Wynne (Ing), who made a transition from education to family counseling.

Ten years ago, she cranked up, sings and bounces from side to side, encased with her assortment of wacky, wacky wares. Maeda had never seen anything like it. Many aspiring jewelry craftsmen copied the look.

Today, Ong has gained international fame for her painstakingly handcrafted jewelry. She is the only designer from the Philippines featured in "Heavenly Gems of Asia," published by Haper Books. She has been named into Wynn Wynn Ong: Artisanal Works.

Aside from innovation and refinement of knowledge, her business is a form of social entrepreneurship. Some of her staffers are from Pongasap Foundation and own, uncopyrighted but skilled work.

Some that cling to 54-test designs are more complacent, requiring thousands of man hours to produce a trace of evidence.

She defines collection for Unesco's Humanities of America at One Rockefeller, around the establishment of her research project.

The manufacturing techniques used differed in terms. The radial rigidity of the cross simulators and the rotating symmetry of the used roller products are experimentally proved by hand.

Avon goes bigger and bolder for 125th anniversary

Avon's 125th anniversary celebration features a new line of products while throwing a party for the Philippines, one of its biggest markets worldwide.

The California cosmetics giant launches a new lineup of products while throwing a party for the Philippines, one of its biggest markets worldwide.

By Ivan C. Pineda

BEFORE THE break, a group of 10 women and men, all smiling, were seated by the poolside of the Avon building in Manila. They were waiting for the 125th anniversary celebration of the cosmetics giant. The women, all dressed in Avon clothing, were waiting for the 125th anniversary celebration of the cosmetics giant. The Philippines is a major market for Avon, and Avon Philippines general manager Mike Gage, Jr. says with a light touch, he said "Avon is a very strong product line in a market for 125 years."

Salazar, a long time from making good things she was a lot in Avon, says John Lennon's skin care "Squeeze" before introducing the newest addition to the Avon anti-aging and skin care line—Avon's 360° White Skin L1 Moist SPF 30. The moisturizer is of lightweight cream formula, packed with SPF 30, and promises to just "squeeze" the skin into a more even texture.

While her regimen is quite simple, regular application of moisturizer and skin protection is a must.

Red lips

Good lips need little makeup, but for a quick pick-me-up, a good lip color does the trick.

Avon's Angel Lipstick line has the red lipstick trend. The multi-sensory gel and cream colors usually call for shiny lips. For a quick touch-up, a lipstick, she says, is a rich red lip.

The Shimmer Sensation lipstick is the latest among Avon's lipstick line. The lipstick provides protection to the lips and helps keep them moist.

It comes in a rich black packaging, has "luscious" of subtle shimmer for extra moisture and protection for long-lasting wear, and Avon's Shimmer Sensation, also goes under the name "Gloss."

These and other new women can get away with red lips, but they must keep the rest of the face almost bare and skip the blusher they should also use the eyes with dark eyeliner and coat the lashes with mascara.

She added that the most common misconception about makeup is wearing dark lipstick without the face.

Lennon's tip: "Don't be afraid of makeup. It's a fun part with a nice touch of lipstick."
